Introducing

CHARLES E. HAWKES has just completed his first year as superintendent of the Salina public schools. For the first time his picture is appearing on the pages of our yearbook, and we hope that it will be there for many, many future years.

We like you, Mr. Hawkes. We like your friendly smile and genial personality. They are already winning for you a fine following among Salina citizens and carving for you a special niche with the students.

PRINCIPAL W.W. WARING is the unifying force of all Salina High School, for his efforts have made spirit and tradition a part of every student's life. We are truly grateful for his intelligent leadership during the past thirteen years.

Brawn

NAMED by the Athletic Board as the most valuable athlete from the 1939 Class, Paul Van Cleef well deserves the honor achieved through these five points: loyalty, training, sportsmanship morale, and record. Paul's rating on each of these points was excellent. His record shows that he has won two letters in football (was 1938 captian), one in track, was chosen for the 1939 All-Star C.K.L. football team, and is a member of both the National Athletic Scholarship and National Honor Society.

SHIRLEY SHAVER had the honor of being chosen Salina High's first football queen, and indeed it was a wise choice for where could we find another as charming, brown-haired, blue-eyed lass. The night of the Salina—Ellsworth game she was presented to Salina football fans by President Reed of the Chamber of Commerce before a large homecoming crowd. The 1939 Trail and News Staff is proud to have sponsored the first Homecoming and the first football queen.

Beauty

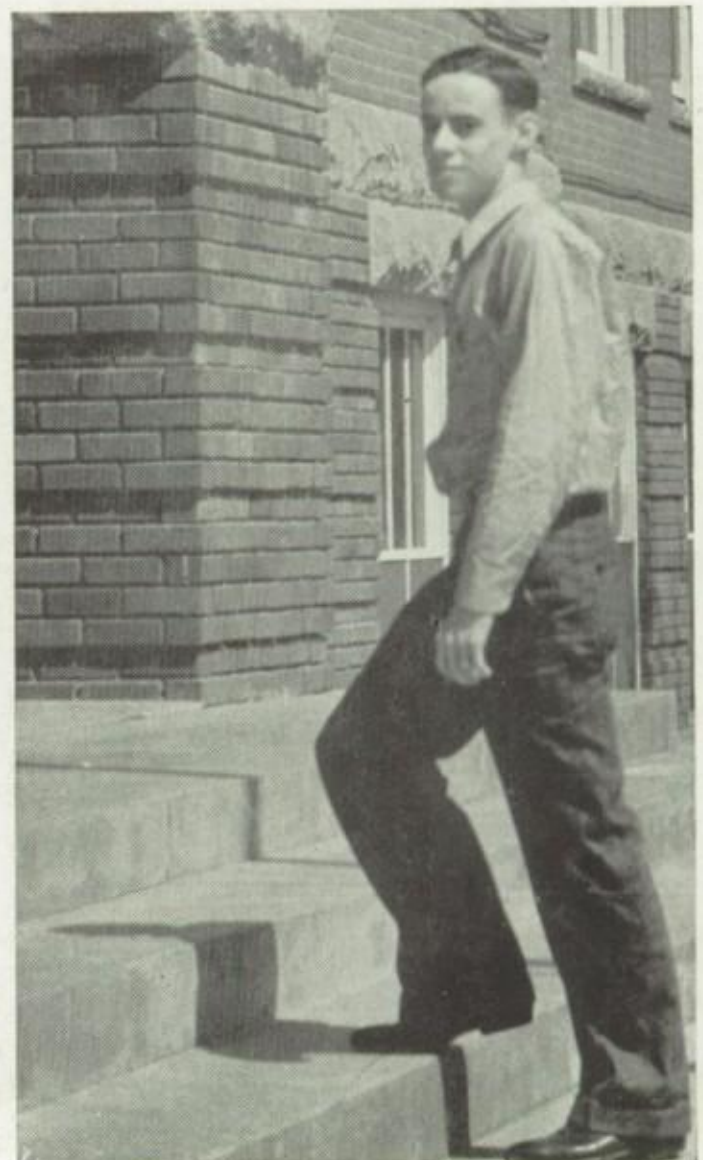

Poise

HELEN JANE EVANS, chosen by the seniors and the Washington faculty to be the Representative Girl of 1939, adequately measures up to the five requirements: achievement, comradeship, cooperation, dependability, and ideals. Quiet though she is, Helen Jane has made her personality felt by the marked ability she has displayed in whatever she has done. Rating high in scholarship and music, and in other activities she is truly representative of the 1939 senior girls.

REPRESENTATIVE senior boy of the 1939 Class is Bob Morrison, a dark-haired, brown-eyed boy who has shown by his effective work and genuine interest in Salina High activities that he is qualified for this highest of honors to be awarded by his classmates and teachers. Bob has ranked high in scholarship, earned a letter in track, served as athletic treasurer, and been a member of the Student Council for the past two years. We are proud that his name will be placed on the Honor Plaque along with those of other representative seniors of Salina High.

OWEN E. HODGSON is the building principal at Washington. Knowing personally some five hundred juniors and seniors may seem like a gross impossibility to many, but it is just an everyday thing to him. Reserved in manner and mild in speech, Mr. Hodgson is endowed with that priceless quality of understanding. This coupled with enthusiasm and encouragement for every worthy student enterprise places him high in our hearts.

Our Coaches

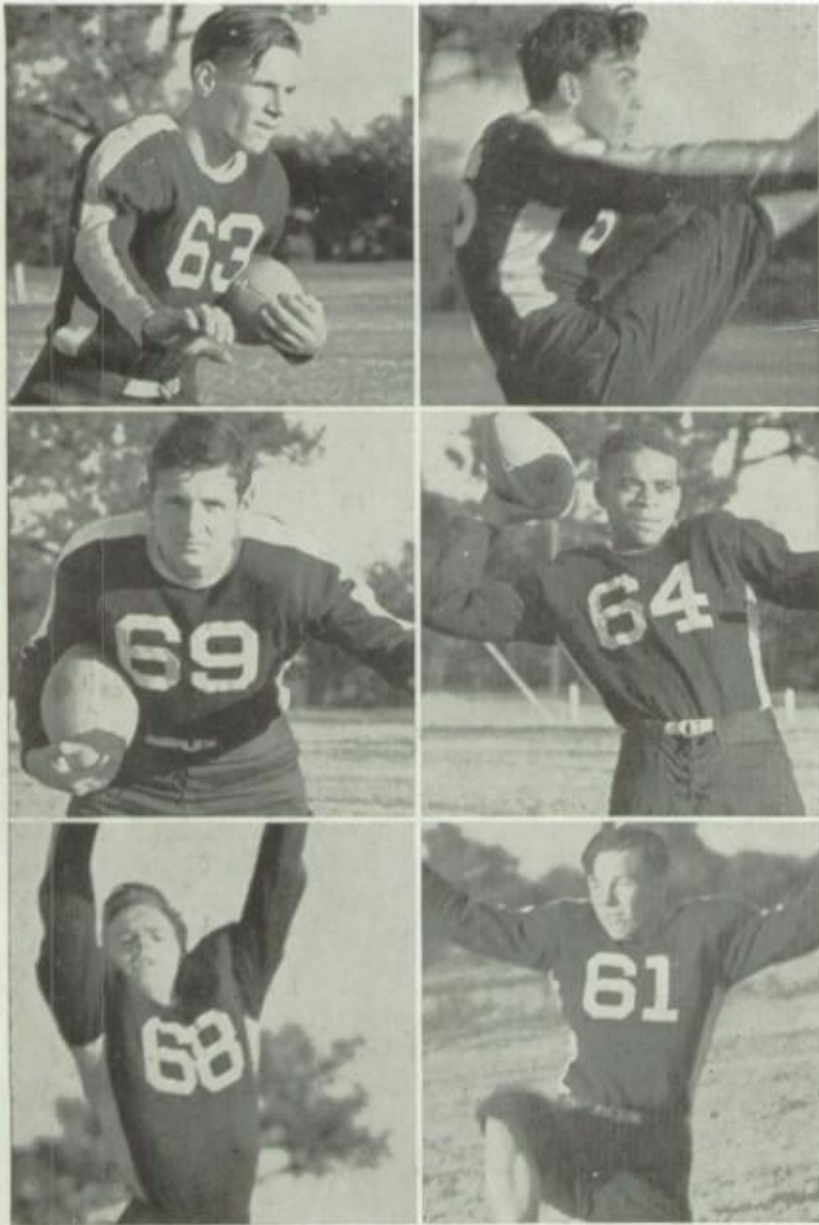

PETE PHILLIPPI, head football coach and new to Salina High this year, did well with his fine group of huskies who ploughed their way to second place in the C.K.L. Considering the time necessary for the boys to learn Mr. Phillippi's formations, signals, and plays, our coach is to be commended on his fine work this year. In addition to his duties as head football coach, Mr. Phillippi mentored the B team in basketball.

EARL MORRISON, head basketball coach, built an excellent team this year from very few lettermen and developed many stars for '40. E. A. Uhrlaub, is in charge of two spring sports, track and golf; he is also Junior High coach of football and basketball. Jesse V. Cooper, as assistant coach of "B" football is Coach Chesney's able assistant in preparing material for the "A" squad. C. E. Bare, tennis coach, turned out a skillful squad this year. C. O. Scott aided in training Junior High football aspirants. L. W. Chesney, head coach for "B" football, went places this year, his boys winning four out of seven games.

"A" Squad

THE SALINA HIGH "A" football squad had a very successful season despite the minimum of experienced players and the difficulties of learning entire different plays and tactics under the new coach, Pete Phillippi, who came from Chapman to receive the reins from ex-Coach Douglass. Under the able leadership of Captain Paul VanCleaf, one of the remaining two lettermen from last year's squad, the Mustang team finished second in the C.K.L. race. For the first time in several years the Maroons were victorious over the Hutchinson Salthawks. Hot on the heels of this win came defeat for them by McPherson and Clay Center. Rallying, the squad determined to defeat their rivals of long standing, Abilene, and did so, following up this success with Herington's defeat. In a rough clash with the powerful undefeated Irish of Chapman, the Mustangs lost by a small margin and received more injuries than all the rest of the year put together. Perhaps the most thrilling game of the year was played the night of Salina High's first Homecoming. In it the Maroons with splendid defensive and offensive playing defeated Ellsworth. Graduating this year are Paul VanCleaf, Bob Stevenson, Keith Cruse, Bill Carl, Jimmy Meadows, Bob Swedenburg, Jack Bailey, Bob Cannon, Gene Mitzel, and Charles Barnett. Still in the horizon is the team of '39 which will be under the captainship of Virgil Olson, a fleet footed line-man. Bud Moore, Clyde Ellis, Charles Eberhardt, Don Johnson, Rodney Meadows, and Eugene Miller will hold down first-team positions. These Mustangs, it is certain, understanding the essentials of championship football, will fight hard for a first place berth in the new league which is being formed. Of the past year's games some of the impressions most probably imprinted on our minds are these: VanCleaf's spectacular runs, Cochrane's short passes and plunges, Jimmy Meadow's finding openings in seemingly impassable lines, and the steady cool playing of sophomore Clyde Ellis, but mainly this team of '38 was known for their indomitable spirit and the individual striving of each separate player to make his fullest contribution to the success of the team.

THE MAROON "B" and the Junior High teams are less publicized and less talked about than the "A" team but in reality they are no less important than the "A" team. They represent long seasons of training and hard, fast football games from the eighth grade on. Their one objective is to become good enough to be on the "A" squad. Some of the boys on the "B" team never get on the "A" team, perhaps because of their size or because the competition is too keen. These "B" team boys do not play football to achieve fame but because they like the sport. The training they receive on Junior High and "B" teams teaches them the rules and fundamentals of the game they need to know when they report for the "A" squad. The "B" squad which includes freshmen, juniors, and sophomores is coached by L. W. Chesney and J. V. Cooper. They play not only the "B" teams from the other schools but also the "A" teams of some of the smaller schools such as Solomon and Culver. The 1938 squad led by Junior Williams, Ira Finney, and Dick Rosberg won three of their eight games, tied one and lost four. Coach E. A. Uhrlaub's Junior High team, made up of freshmen and eighth graders, was even more successful than the "B" team. They won all their games. The main reason for their success was Bill Bradley, ninth grader and big backfield man, who did nearly all of their ball carrying. If these players continue to improve at the rate they did in the 1938 season, they should provide very tough competition for the schools of the newly-formed league of which Salina is a member.

Reserve Squads

John: Keep away from the roomers. Try you will always be. free!

Bob Stevenson

THE MUSTANG team of 1938-'39 had as good a record as could be expected with only one letterman, Bob Stevenson, left from last season. The Mustangs started the season with three non-league losses to Hutchinson, Lawrence, and Hays. Beginning league play the Maroons took the opener from Lindsborg 32-13 followed by two defeats; one by the Abilene club 23-31 the other by McPherson 27-17. The Mustangs then beat the Ellsworth Bearcats 38-24 only to be beaten the next game by Herington 20-18. After losing the next game to the Cowboys 19-16, the Mustangs won three straight from McPherson, Ellsworth, and Chapman. They then lost to Herington 27-31 but won the last game of the season from Lindsborg 40-20. The Mustangs finished in fourth place with seven victories and five defeats. Leading the team throughout the season were Junior Williams with a total of 114 points and Bill Cochrane with 103 points. Playing in the Regionals the Mustangs played some of the best brand of basketball of all the year. Starting in the first round games they defeated the Ellsworth Bearcats and advanced to the semi-finals against Herington. After being beaten twice in the league by the Railroaders the Maroons turned the tables and beat them advancing to the finals against the McPherson club. Playing one of the best games of the year, the team beat the Bullpups 24-23 and won the Regionals for the first time since 1934. Winning the right to go to the State Tournament the Mustangs drew the powerful ElDorado team which had been spotted second place in the state. Due a great deal to nervousness and tendency to miss the basket the team was defeated and ElDorado went on to win second place. With this year's top four scorers being juniors the Mustangs next year should have a very powerful team.

SALINA JUNIOR HIGH squads turned in a favorable record for their basketball season with the freshman squad winning four and losing four games and the eighth graders following up with a better record than expected. The freshman team was built around husky Bill Bradley who will, together with others on that squad, have an excellent chance to make the first squad next year. Most of the players on the ninth grade teams will be on the B squad next year and will be aided by those boys from this year's B team who are not quite experienced enough to make the first squad next season. The players making up the eighth grade team this season will comprise the freshman squad of 1940. Both junior squads developed wonderfully well under the capable supervision of Coach "Dutch" Uhrlaub, who also had charge of the same fellows in junior high football. The starters, and those who have had a very good chance of making the B squad next year if they improve in proportion to the progress shown this year on the freshman squad are Lear, Bradley, Keithline, Smith, and Loop. Boys from the younger junior high squad who started the majority of the games and who are most likely to make the freshman team are White, Williams, Stewart, Cramer, and Fahring. Each junior squad includes about 20 players although only a limited number suit up for the games. Next year's freshman squad members probably will be much smaller in size, but with a year's growth no one can prophesy how they may rate in comparison with the ninth grade huskies of this past season.

SIXTEEN Salina athletes make up the 1939 membership roll of the S. H. S. chapter of the National Athletic Scholarship Society with their excellent performances on the gridiron, the track, and with their better than average work in the classroom. The names of the boys, their grade, and the sport in which they received their qualifying letter are as follows: Cecil King, senior, football; Paul Van Cleef, senior, football; Charles Eberhardt, junior, track; Bob Morrison, senior, track; Virgil Olson, junior, track; Gail Porter, senior, track; Bob Stevenson, senior, football; Bob Swedenburg, senior, football; Bob Cannon, senior, football; Gene Mitzel, senior, football; Rodney Smith, senior, football; Eugene Miller, junior, football; Bill Ripley, junior, football; Bill Carl, senior, football; Bill Norris, junior, football; Clyde Ellis, sophomore, football. Congratulations, boys, your records are excellent. Being admitted to this honorary scholastic society is no easy matter, for there are exacting qualifications which must be met by the applicants. Any boy in the tenth, eleventh, or twelfth grade of Salina High School is eligible for membership in the National Athletic Scholarship Society if he meets the three following specific requirements: First, the athlete must have earned a letter in either a major sport, as football, track, or basketball; or in some minor sport, tennis or golf. Second, his average grades for three consecutive semesters, before, at the time of, or after he has earned his letter must be equal to or higher than the general average of the school. Finally, the applicant must have exemplified the highest type of citizenship and sportsmanship. The National Athletic Scholarship Society was organized in February, 1925 by a group of secondary school principals in Washington, D.C. Since that time the N.A.S.S. has grown to be a nation-wide organization with 1500 local chapters representing 48 states.

HAVING lost its two best golfers by graduation last year, 1939's golf team brought out a brand new crop of divot diggers to cover the greens for Salina High under the guidance of E. A. Uhrlaub. Jack Moore, junior, headed the team this year, ably supported by Bob Caldwell, Bill Lentz, Bob Cain and Gilbert Rodenbaugh. Beginning their golf career for S.H.S. these boys placed second in their first C.K.L. tournament, losing to Abilene. This excellent start proves that the league golf championship should belong to Salina next year. Jack's showing on the course the past season hints that he should capture many honors in his senior year. This season marks the last meeting of the C.K.L. teams, and, as there will be a new league next year with larger schools for members, much stiffer competition is expected.

Up-to-Par

Love Game

SALINA HIGH'S netmen came through with a fairly successful season of play in which ten meets were scheduled including four tournaments and six dual matches. Lettermen for this year are David McCarty, senior, who also lettered last year, Bill Carl and Harold Hines, seniors; Bill Traylor, junior; Scott Harvey, sophomore, and Jay Hines, freshman. With only three lettermen graduating, tennis coach, C. E. Bare, believes that prospects for a championship team next year are better than for the past several seasons. Members of this year's team in whom Coach Bare is placing his hopes for 1940 are Scott Harvey who probably has had more experience than any other man on the team, Bill Traylor, and Jay Hines. Harold Lear, squad member this year who did not play quite enough to win a letter, and a promising group of freshmen will give strength to next year's squad.

TRACK AND FIELD activities at Salina High this year found seven lettermen—Charles Eberhardt, Gail Porter, Bob Morrison, Virgil Olson, Don Mowe, Cecil King, and Bill Cochran—on Coach “Dutch” Uhrlaub’s squad of 50 boys. “Pete” Phillippi assisted Uhrlaub in coaching the 1939 Tracksters. Early season interclass competition resulted in an easy victory for the junior thinclads with the sophomores, seniors, and freshmen ranking in the order named. In the first interschool meet with Topeka, Mustang cindermen came home with only three firsts in their total of 32 points: Eberhardt in the 440; Struble in the high hurdles; 880-Yard relay run by Struble-Swedenburg-Van Cleef-Thyfault. Other point winners in that meet were Virgil Olson, Gail Porter, Clyde Ellis, Bill Murphy, and Cecil King. The mile relay team (Thyfault-Cannon-Olson-Eberhardt) took first place honors in the meet held at Emporia early in April in connection with the track coaches’ clinic sponsored by the Emporia Teachers College. Gordon VanPelt and Gail Porter, Mustang distance men, scored the only Salina points in the April 8 Sterling Relays, winning a third place in the half mile and the mile run. As this copy went to the printer April 17, Mustang trackmen were scheduled to enter a triangular meet at Chapman April 18, the K.U. Relays April 21-22, dual meet with Hutchinson April 29, C.K.L. in Salina May 5, the Salina Regional May 12, and the State Meet at Emporia May 19-20. Salina entries in the K.U. Relays, numbering less than ten, included the mile relay team and individual entries in the dashes and distance runs. Regional entries were those who had placed first, second or third in a meet approved by the state board and one in which at least four teams were entered. Although the early season performances of this year’s trackmen did not equal that of the 1938 league champions, the showing made by the junior and sophomore members promises better records for 1940.

They're Our Tracksters

They Broke a Record

THE 1938 mile relay team composed of Bill Reed, senior 1938, Junior Hoisington, senior 1938; Charles Eberhardt, junior; and Virgil Olson, junior, ran the fastest mile in the state of Kansas in 3:26.9 at Emporia last May. This is the first time in the history of Salina High track that such honor has been won for the school. Bill and Junior graduated in '38 and broke up the champion relay team. Eberhardt and Olson have two more years to hold the record or maybe better it. The new time clipped the old record of 3:29.7 by 1.8 seconds. Charles and Virgil are both fine athletes, lettering in track and football. Virgil will be captain of the 1939 football team. All the boys on the relay team range into the six foot territory except Virgil who is shortest, but that fact does not decrease his running ability. Bill Reed is now enrolled at Kansas University and is keeping on with his running by working out for the K.U. freshman track squad. Charles is the third Eberhardt to letter for Salina in track. Besides running the mile relay he ran the 100, 220, and 440 yard dashes, winning many firsts namely: the Hutchinson and Central Kansas League 440 yard dashes. Both Charles and Virgil should win many points for Salina High in their Senior year on the track squad next spring.

They Play

THE ORCHESTRA swung into action this year with all the vacant spots filled again, and completed another successful year of music. The group of 85 students met each school day during the third hour, and under the able direction of C. F. Lebow, they spent many enjoyable hours learning, playing and polishing selections. Not all their time, however, was spent in playing; several periods were devoted to the study of musical terms, fundamentals, and types of music. One great help in the orchestra in improving their music this year was the recording machine which was used to great advantage. At least one record of an orchestra number was made each month and the 'canned music' helped to point out the parts which needed correcting or improving. The orchestra also was divided into several smaller sections which practiced individually and which appeared frequently on assembly programs throughout the year. Two of these groups were string choirs, one a brass choir, and one a woodwind choir. The orchestra, again uniting with the band and chorus divisions of the music department and the ballet groups, presented their most ambitious program of the year, the production, "Say It With Music." The show was a continuous train of tunes with the orchestra always assisting. Featured from this department was a marimba band and a piano concerto, both with orchestral accompaniment. The orchestra will be heard from once again at the commencement exercises where it will make its last appearance this year and bid adieu as the '39 orchestra of Salina High.

SALINA HIGH'S BAND under the leadership of C. F. Lebow won a real place for itself this year in the activities of the school, adding color and music to football and basketball games, and representing the school in various civic programs. "Bigger and Better" seemed to be the slogan from enrollment day on, for more than 110 veteran and novice candidates signed for first hour band work at the music cottage. During the early fall that first hour was frequently scheduled to start long before the usual 8:50 bell, in order to give additional time for marching practice, the scene of action being Second Street or Maroon Field. In an effort to show their loyalty to S.H.S., members of the band wore out numerous pairs of shoes trying to make the band a better marching unit, forgetting their loss of sleep and weary legs. The band accepted the invitation of Kansas State College to be one of the marching units at one of their home football games. This year's trip to Manhattan will long be remembered both by bandsters and the bus drivers. Responding to the requests of the students, the band added a number of the current favorites in popular music to their repertoire, increasing immeasurably the popularity of the band at the basketball games. The highlight of the year was the full evening's concert presented as a benefit to help finance the purchase of the caps and belts added early in the fall to the uniforms of the well-dressed Salina High bandboy—or girl.

a Capella Choir

UNDER the adept baton of A. M. Thompson, 78 miscellaneous voices developed into Salina High's popular and outstanding a Capella Choir. At the cost of broken batons and rolled-up-shirt-sleeves, Mr. Thompson whipped into shape the numbers that the choir so willingly presented for the entertainment of civic programs, at church services, and P.T.A. and assembly programs. The choir participated in the state contest at Emporia and the regional contest at Kansas Wesleyan, where they "strutted their stuff" and obtained high honors. "Say It With Music," Salina High's all-school show, was aided and abetted by the choir. Commencement night brought to a conclusion the activities of the '39 a Capella Choir as the members donned the maroon robes to sing a final number for the students and patrons of Salina High.

THESE industrious looking individuals represent the student councils of Washington and Lincoln building, and though you wouldn't believe it from looking at them, they have put in a very busy year. They are the group which display the democratic spirit of the school and assist by originating and promoting new plans and ideas during the year. The effectiveness of this student work depends greatly on the leadership of those chosen, and the initiative which they display in promoting the projects. Each year the group has added a festive note to their building at Christmastime by erecting a tree in the main hall. The Lincoln Student Council, with the advise of faculty members planned and carried out all their assembly programs during the year, and also had charge of stirring up the enthusiasm in their building for Costume Day. The Washington group tried diligently to reimburse their empty treasury by selling the new maroon seals, and also they tried to promote school dances. Lastly both councils elect a point-system secretary each year who has the arduous task of checking and compiling the innumerable points turned in by students who are trying for the letter awarded at each year's end.

Student Council

NATIONAL Honor Society members from the senior class number 38 this year, 26 girls and 12 boys. From the upper one-third of the senior class ranking highest in scholarship, the Washington faculty by a majority vote selected the 38 seniors on the basis of their character, service, and leadership qualifications. This year's group, the sixteenth to be chosen, brings the total membership of the Salina chapter to 368. National Junior Honor Society members from the sophomore class includes 13 boys and 21 girls, a total of 34 new members which brings the chapter membership to 161 representing seven classes. National Junior Honor Society members are elected by the Lincoln faculty from the sophomores, ranking, scholastically in the upper ten percent, on the basis of character, service, and leadership.

Debate

THE SALINA chapter of the National Forensic League is not only the most active chapter in Kansas but the largest. The N.F.L. sponsored one of the largest debate tournaments in Kansas which was attended by 200 debaters from 25 Kansas towns. The chapter also sponsored Stunt Night which was seen by an enthusiastic audience of 600. The debate season this year was unusually successful from the standpoint of debate tournaments attended. The Mustang debaters attended tournaments at Hays, Topeka, Coffeyville, Emporia, Wyandotte in Kansas City, the C. K. L. and the District in Salina, and the N.F.L. tournament that was also in Salina. A new idea in debate was started when a number of freshmen and sophomore debaters were made members of the regular squad and participated in the tournaments at Salina and Emporia.

JEANNE BROCK

STUDENTS meet the staff that submits for your approval the '39 Trail. This group of 47 has been working steadily and with eager anticipation since it was organized at a journalism conference in October. As new and unique ideas were forming. Ye Ed and her assistants began to develop bigger and better brainstorm. Burning literally gallons of midnight oil, they worked and schemed for what they hoped would be a super annual. Among the staff's activities were the collecting of photographs, the compiling of information on class groups, school organizations, and activities, the writing up of sports and features, and the collection of advertising material. The greater part of the Trail photography was handled by Jeanne Brock, staff photographer and her assistant, Derald Kauffman. The Trail was greatly benefitted by their splendid work and time willingly contributed. The event of flower-loving Ferdinand's winning the Stunt Night prize money for the hard-working staff brightened considerably the prospect of a truly swank annual, making possible additional finishing touches that make it the streamlined book you see today. Throughout the eventful year, advisers, editors, and staff members each made his contribution and as the year draws to a close, the staff leaves Salina High with the feeling that it has been a pleasurable task.

GET IT RIGHT; get it now, but get it right," a slogan familiar to all journalism students, was the basis of their activities during '38-'39. Through the cooperation of the printing department advisers, and the various news departments, fellow students and school patrons were kept in touch with school and city news events. The 47 members of the two journalism classes planned the 30 issues of the News, that included special Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Years, April Fool's Day, and several other six-page and seven-column issues. How familiar became the words "copy," "dummy," and "lead;" and how each aspiring journalist scraped his inches together. In addition to editing the paper, the staff gained a broader knowledge of current events, became familiar with terms used in a newspaper office, and acquired a more extensive vocabulary. Each staff member strove to give his stories accuracy, clarity, and timeliness. Extra effort was made to cover the activities of every school organization. Several stories of unusual merit were published in the Salina Sun or Advertiser. The year was highlighted by a journalism conference at Lawrence early in the fall, where ideas were obtained for a better school paper and a better yearbook. The visits of famous personalities, such as James A. Farley, Glenn Cunningham, and Karl Krueger, gave opportunity for personal interviews with outstanding celebrities. Each staff member gained a wealth of experience and had a great deal of fun as a Salina High Journalist, and we pass from S.H.S. portals with every good wish to next year's prospective journalists.

We Click

UNDER the auspices of Blaine Sites the Washington Kodak Club was able to "click" this year. Members of the club, after learning the fundamentals of photography were active in recording for the school, "shots" of social and athletic events. One of the most active members was Derald Kauffman who spent many hours "in the dark" developing and printing, and who would be seen "flashing" around at games. The club boasts a dark room which is open for club members during free periods of the day and after school; there is also a camera that may be used on special occasions. The Kodak Club is governed by a constitution which requires for membership first semester merely an interest, an available camera, and 25 cents used for buying supplies for the club; for the second semester, a developed negative and a printed picture from each member and an additional 25 cents. The club elects its officers at the semester rather than the beginning of the year so that the officers will have experience in the club before serving.

ROW AFTER ROW of smart looking lassies bedecked with braid stand waiting your approval. They are the Lincoln Drill team, composed of sophomore girls who have an eye for straight lines and a knack for intricate maneuvers. How often at the half over a frozen field or a shining floor they have marched, each white plume bobbing merrily. Five girls in full white regalia lead the team and do the necessary baton twirling. Although this organization just made its debut this year, its popularity is so great and its operations so successful that there can hardly be a doubt that it will continue in future years. To Miss Sturgeon, their teacher leader, should go a great deal of the credit for her enthusiasm and patience in working.

HEART and So—oul,” grouped around a K.S.A.L. mike the Lincoln quartet and sextette “swing out” on one of the season’s most popular tunes. Being two of S.H.S.’s most popular groups, what could be more fitting? But the lighter type of music is not the extent of their ability. The girls sextette has had a hand in making school programs the more interesting; likewise the boy’s quartet has taken part in many such programs. Chosen for their ability and blending quality of their voices, both groups have spent hours of practice under adept supervision of Alfred Thompson who holds at the tip of his baton that certain touch that all true musicians must possess. The slogan “all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy,” would not apply to these groups for there is a sense of satisfaction in feeling that they’re doing something worthwhile—who knows what fame future years may bring to these freshmen and sophomore nightingales!

WASHINGTON girls sextette, trio, and the boys quartette have won much acclamation from their fellow students at Washington as well as from other student and patron groups; and rightly so, for they have proved themselves to be worthy of all the laurels heaped upon their heads. How many times have they "given out" at Girl Reserve and Hi-Y meetings, building assemblies, and various other programs. All their contributions no one can count! A large part of their success is rightly credited to Maestro Al Thompson, who gave his infinite patience, his hang for harmony, and his valuable time to the building of something really good. Besides all the fun of being a Thompson Triller, the students also obtained a wealth of experience and training that could in no other way be acquired.

THE ELLEN H. RICHARDS Club includes many of Salina High's culinary-minded young ladies. Under the sponsorship of Miss Miller these young cooks enjoyed an eventful year. Salina High's organization is affiliated with both state and national organizations, thus enabling the girls to attend any of the state or national meetings. A number of girls accepted the invitation of the students in the Home Economics department of Kansas State College to come to Manhattan for hospitality day. One of the outstanding events of the year was a formal banquet held during the Thanksgiving season for all past members as well as active members. This was followed by a line party of 75 girls to the theatre. Faculty members were guests at a party given by the girls in March, and the girls' mothers were given a party later in the year. The club enlarged its treasury by selling tickets for shows during the year and by selling script books.

"GENTLEMEN" of the printing department, under the eagle eye of C. D. Winders, print three publications during the year, namely, the Salina High News, the Trail, and the Junior Journal, a grade school paper. The printing department offers two different types of courses, the Smith-Hughes Vocational Printing and the General Industrial Arts Printing. The vocational course is designed to give maximum training in trade skill development. The general course places the most emphasis on trade information which will help the student in future life when he becomes a consumer. An honorary club is made up of the fellows who are very active in their classes and do outstanding work. The chapter is affiliated with the National Student Graphic Arts Society whose purpose is to advance graphic arts education. The club arranges for the students to visit various printing plants in the state. Visits this year have been made to leading plants in Topeka, Wichita, and Salina. Shop management, equipment, and other objects observed on these tours are used as topics for talks at club meetings. Salina High would have a difficult time getting along without these lads of the press.

IT'S A FINE THING TO SING" is one of the Girl Reserve Songs and a favorite of ours especially when we're singing the praises of those charming girls. This year marks another glowing milestone for Salina High Girl Reserves, for their vivaciousness has created a major place for them on the Records of Time. Let's "Sing Along" with these girls and see what their songs have meant to them in the attainment of their ideals. Probably the most important factor which has brought about their success is that these girls "Picture a Spot" far off in the horizon and stick to it till their goal is attained. "All I Want is Sociability" was the theme for the gay parties given by the various clubs. The Indian Pow Wow of the seventh grade Girl Reserves and the Halloween Party of the eighth grade Girl Reserves will long be remembered by those at Roosevelt. A good time was certainly had by all at the Lincoln G. R.'s George Washington party and the Washington Club's outing at Wary Lake. Not wanting to be selfish with the pleasures they derived from being together the girls of all three clubs invited their mothers to delightful teas and banquets. "Girl Reserves All Follow the Quest" was in the mind of every G. R. especially at Thanksgiving and Christmas when the girls went in quest of help for the more unfortunate of our city. A dinner at the Americanization Center for needy families was the gift of the Washington G. R. at Christmas. Apples and oranges were sent by Lincoln to the Americanization Center and Booker T. Washington Center. Responding to the needs found by the Roosevelt G. R.'s, they distributed bouquets of flowers, books, and magazines, collected clothing for the Red Cross, and adopted two families at Christmas. While looking after the needs of others though, the Lincoln club also looked out for the needs of its members along recreational lines by furnishing a recreation room with card tables, games, and Ping-pong sets. Washington girls took frequent hikes for the recreational part of their program. Even though the girls sang "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles," the bubbles from their financial pipes did not burst but became firm business projects. Washington carried on their candy sales at the football games; Lincoln planned a successful theater ticket campaign and the "Roosevelt Annes" sold candy at the night P.T.A. meetings. How to become "Nearer My God to Thee" was the purpose of the impressively beautiful Vesper Service held by the combined clubs at the Lutheran Church. Dr. Joe Riley Burns, the speaker of the evening and a favorite of the girls also taught the G. R.'s to appreciate "America the Beautiful" in his talk about the dictatorships of the world. When we look back and see all that the Girl Reserves of Salina High have accomplished in this past year, and how much enjoyment they derived from their club, it is no wonder that they sing "Oh, How We Love You, Triangle of Blue" and accept the challenge to "Follow the Gleam."

They Doodle!

DOODLES are pencil pictures of the subconscious mind. Every body draws them. Students doodle to escape boredom during class recitations. Teachers like doodling too but usually lack the spare moments in which to do it. Others like it because it gives them a chance to air their artistic (?) talents and still others doodle just for the heck of it. On the opposite page are a few of these absent-minded amazements, gleaned from notebooks of various unsuspecting S.H.S. students. Claiming that doodles tell us something of those who draw them, we'll say:

Christine Nelson likes smoothness and harmony in her life. See the couple dancing, (graceful dickenses, aren't they?) and the flowing lines of that silly snake! Mary Louise McAdams has a yen for the hero type judging from this dashing fireman. Get a load of the burning building—but we don't see where that shoe fits. (Pardon pun.) Jim Hiller is mechanically minded or we miss our guess. That neatly drawn little robot seems to be doing setting-up exercises. Ed Surface has quite a sense of humor. How could he draw that two-horse power contraption without one? Even the pilot is disgusted. Martha Lou Little baffles us with this one. You figure it out! Benton Eagle longs to be a terror of the plains judging from this assemblage of boots, spurs, and various instruments of villainy. It doesn't exactly seem to bode any good for Metz Wright, either! G? oWus Whe don't know who is responsible for this panic, but it was most likely perpetrated by one suffering from final-exam jitters. Maurice Cooley likes his Latin. Just see all the flying arrows, sagittari and what have you! The fellow to the right must have stuck his neck out too far. Junior Lanning is a card and this doodle proves it! There's something subtle about the thing that grows on you, folks. Feel it? Doris Starr, an expressive girl, has eyes to show for it. They really project the "umph," don't they? We refer to the doodle, though Doris could have posed for the prettiest eyes here!

Hi-Y Cabinets

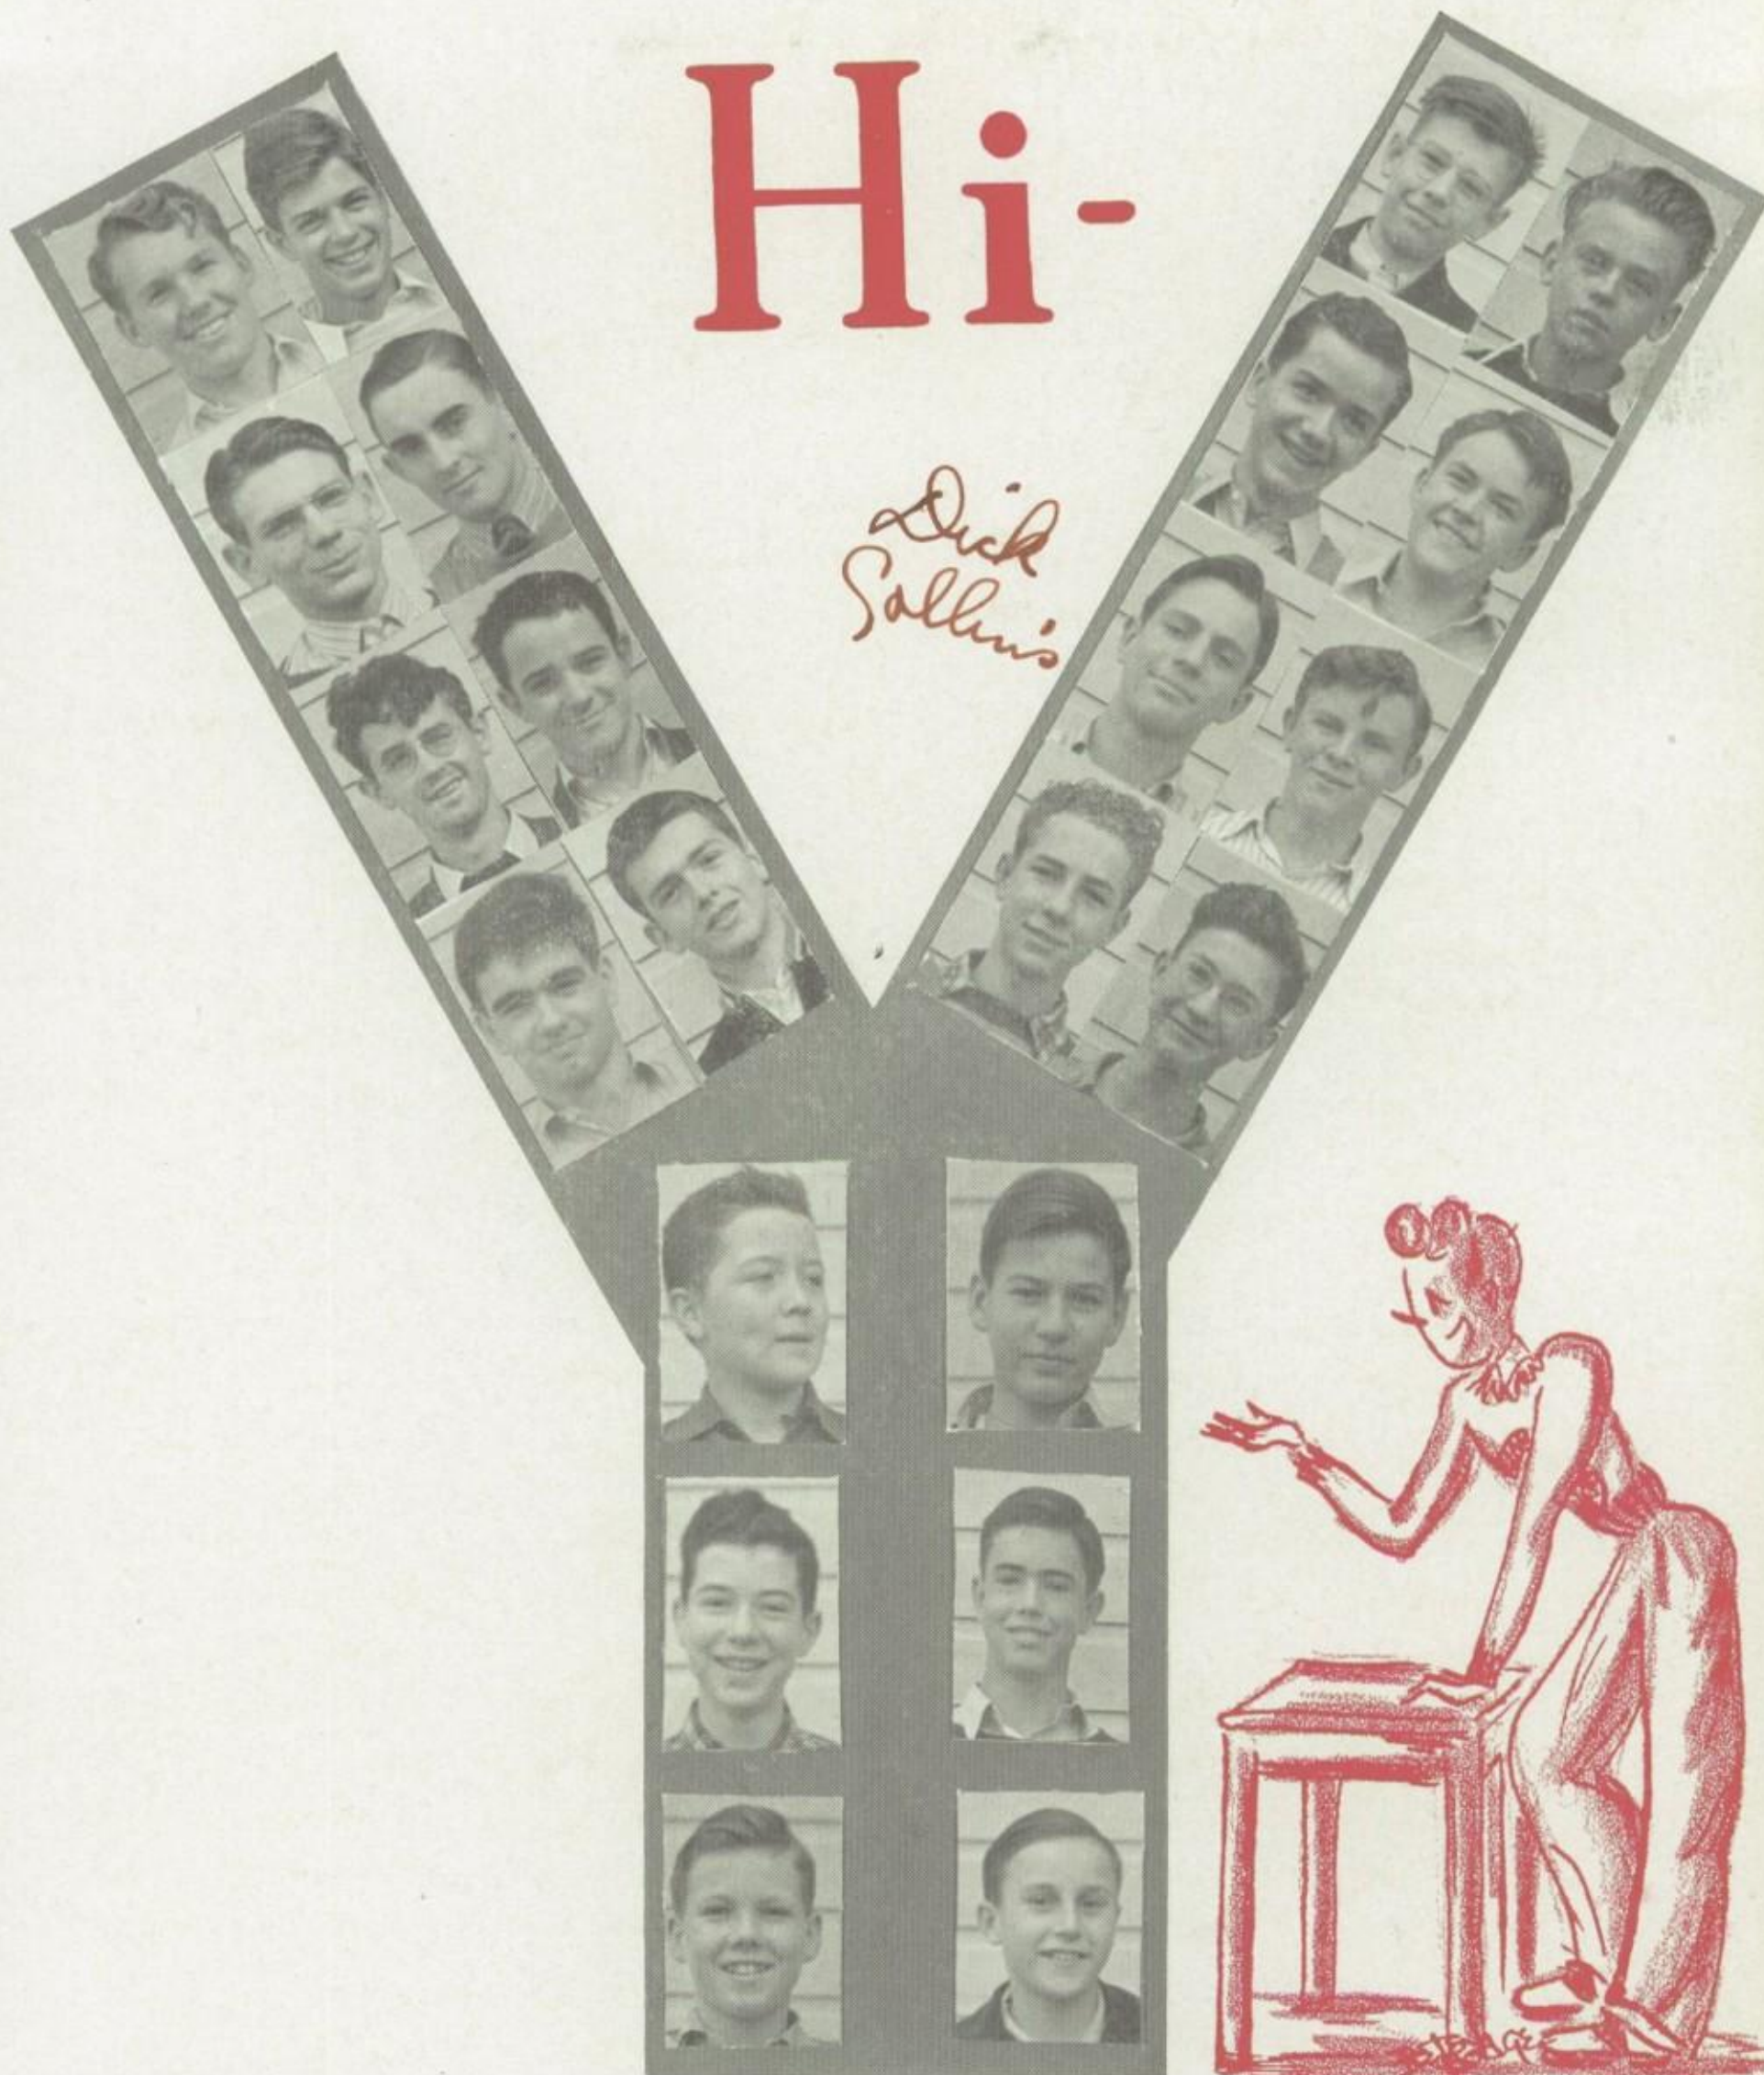

WASHINGTON HI-Y: This club had one of the most successful years it has known from the standpoint of service and entertainment rendered to the school. The Hi-Y began its good work soon after enrollment by selling hot dogs to all the hungry fans at the football games. Then in October, in cooperation with the Lincoln and Roosevelt Hi-Y's, they brought the famous Kansas miler, Glenn Cunningham, to speak to the student body. Sales talk and indefatigable efforts sold for them bushels of "basketball pencils" and put clinkers in their coffers. The programs of the year were arranged in series of three; one was an entertainment program, one was a speech by a prominent Salinan, and the third was a free-for-all discussion among the fellows of the club.

LINCOLN HI-Y: The members of this club spent a great many of their worthy minutes on vocations and what courses in school boys should take to help them after they graduate. The club sent two members, Maurice Miller and Clayton Henry, to the Hi-Y "come-together" in Eldorado, who gave some very interesting reports to the club upon their return. The Lincoln Hi-Y'ers helped their Washington big brothers put over the Maroon Mustang pencil campaign, and were instrumental in the success of Glenn Cunningham's visit. The club also did its part in helping the needy by giving a basketful of food both at Thanksgiving and Christmas. One of the high spots of the year was the installation of officers in the fall and the open house at Y. M. C. A. in the spring.

ROOSEVELT HI-Y: Devoting a large amount of their time in discussing some very interesting problems in school and the world at large, the Roosevelt Hi-Y spent one of the most interesting years in club work that they have ever had. Their programs were divided into projects that were further divided into discussion topics. The boys started in the fall on sportsmanship and discussed what could be done to remedy the attitude of a poor sport. The next project was one of racial difficulties in which they ferreted out the source of the trouble and what could be done about it. In order to fill the club purse, these young Hi-Y'ers used lungs and legs to hit a new high in hot dog sales among the grandstand fans. A party in February was the big social event of the year.

MUSTANG PETE

Ole Mustang Pete
Is a bowlegged chap
With very large feet
And a weather-beaten map.
Now, Mustang Pete
And Washington High
Are getting so old
They're about to die.
But, before they do
Just to show we're true—
We'll pen some lines—
And their lives review.

* * * *

Patrick Henry once said, "Give me Liberty or give me death." Now one says, "Give me Liberty or give me Life—they're both good magazines!"

I'll bet the man who said, "Third time's a charm," never tried skipping school!

"BAR O" NURSERY RHYMES

BY

MUSTANG PETE

Cal, Cal, the grocer's son,
Learned to play when he was young,
Now Cal could play 'bout any tune,
And play 'em so well, the gals did swoon.
Cal with his clarinet did make such a noise
That he surely pleased both the girls and the boys.
And they couldn't stand still, when they heard him play,
For to hear him play was to swing and sway.
Cal with his clarinet did play with such skill
That those who heard him could never keep still;
Whenever they heard him, they began to prance,
So they all bought tickets and went to the Jive
Club Dance.

MUSTANG PETE'S ESSAY ON MAN

At thirty man suspects himself a fool;
Knows it at forty, and reforms his plan.
At fifty he chides his infamous delay,
Pushes his prudent purpose to resolve
In all the magnanimity of thought;
Resolves, and re-resolves, then dies the same.

MEATY MUTTERINGS OF MUSTANG PETE

To keep out of jail, don't take things seriously.

The fellow who watches the clock is likely to remain one of the "hands."

Never be jealous of the chap who is much sought after. Remember the burglar.

A bald head is no disgrace—if the baldness is confined to the outside.

When a man's the flower of manhood, is he a blooming idiot?

A diplomat is a man who remembers a woman's birthday but forgets her age.

The scientist who declared that kissing is a silly practice that would be considered barbarous a hundred years from now, is a wise bird. He put the date far enough ahead so he won't miss anything.

SECOND NATURE

Have you ever noticed the little things about most of the people here at school—little actions or habits which seem to be a part of them—so much so that they would seem unnatural were those characteristics lacking? In the hall or classrooms I'm sure we've all noticed—

Carl Meyer—surrounded by girls
Van Cleef and Wells—holding hands
Glen White—grinning
Betsy—drinking a coke
Gus Geoffray—trying to get a tardy excuse
"Prof" Hensley—arguing
Betty Tibbets—trying to be inconspicuous
Herb Illingworth—heckling somebody in the office
Henry Hay—rushing somewhere at break-neck speed
Fincher—with a bruise or black eye
"Stupe"—being friendly to everyone
Naneen Hiller—telling someone how to spell a word
Us—rushing this to beat the deadline

O, SENIORS! MY SENIORS!

(WITH APOLOGIES TO WALT WHITMAN)

O, Seniors! My Seniors! at last our time has come,

And we will "Commence" now, the brilliant with the dumb.

No more will we jump and start—when we hear that tardy bell.

Our last Prom is o'er now—and gee! but it was swell.

O, Seniors! My Seniors! our last school day is done,

We all have weathered every test, the prize we sought is won,

The end is near, the sighs I hear are Seniors,
all lamenting.

PUPPY LOVE

He stood looking at her with a shining light in his eyes. Her golden hair shone like spun gold in the still quiet of the summer moon. The breeze tossed her curls and made her even more beautiful, her eyes lighted up to reflect the one star gleaming above. No word passed between them.

As they walked along the sandy path, they came into the shadow of an old oak tree. He stopped. She raised her head expectantly.
Still he did not speak. She made a short, puzzled sound in her throat. He sighed with a quivering joy, his heart beating fast, then stroked her silken hair. They went on down the road together—Tom and his prize-winning pekinese dog.

TO NEXT YEAR'S SENIORS

We're yelling for next year's senior class,
Our nerves are feeling the strain;
Our school year will soon be o'er, but alas—
There's loss where there ought to be gain.
We've got spring fever—our teachers we grieve
For we'd rather be out with the masses;
Those parties, and picnics and meetings—leave
Us tired—and we sleep in our classes.
I hope the good fairy calls upon you
With good grades and a year full of cheer;
And then may you say—and know it is true—
"This has been one grand senior year!"

CONSOLATION

Don't worry if your grades are low
Or if your rewards are few
Just remember that the mighty oak

LOVE UNREQUITED

There they stood 'neath the mellow moon.
Oh that lovely night in June.
Her dusky locks were softly entwined
With blossoms of rarest perfume;
Each motion a poem, and manner refined,
Her movements entrancing even to gloom,
She stood with lashes demurely downcast,
The world at her feet—a kingdom so vast.
His manner so stately, an asset supreme,
His protecting arm to her so appealing,
Truly the answer to this maiden's dream,
Still her placid expression remained unreveal-ing.

He gazed and his eyes were filled with yearning;
Inside, his heart with love was burning.
Still they stood, through wind and weather,
Worlds apart though close together.
Yes, they remained through cold and hot,
Forever rooted to the spot—
Two trees.

How can I thank you for letting me pass—
My dear Miss Smith, I'm through at last
How can I say, in a line or two

Only to find, in recitation, my mind blank!
But you seemed to understand,
And now, with diploma in hand,
How can I thank you, Miss Smith?

THE KILL

A soft sneaking sound was in the hall . . . Ah! Now he had his chance . . . he had longed and waited for this chance for such a long time . . . why he had dreamed of it for months, and now his chance had come. There she sat, the most wonderful creature and yet the most hateful and annoying. Before Bob had come to town she had been all his and wouldn't have thought ever of passing him up for anyone . . . but she would be sorry, and so would Bob.

Pansy sat looking out the window . . . if only Bob would call . . . It seemed ages since she had last seen him. Dick was nice, but he got on her nerves. Well, she would sit here and wait for Bob.

Dick entered as she sat looking into space. Probably thinking of Bob . . . if he were only sure she wouldn't do this again, he would let it go by. But she was the most annoying thing that had ever been created. She didn't deserve to live. This wasn't the first life she had ruined . . . there had been others before.

That he was sure of . . . now to make the kill.

It didn't take long. It had been so simple that he wondered why he had been so long in making up his mind to commit the murder.
She had died bravely. Well, now she would have all the time she wanted to think of Bob . . .
and he wouldn't care now.

At that moment the mistress of the house walked into the living room and was aghast at the sight she saw. Her beautiful cat, Pansy, lying in the middle of the room, torn and strewn over the floor, and Dick, the sulky wire-hair, standing over her with a sort of smile on his face and blood on his mouth . . .
Dick had made the kill.

MUSTANG PETE GETS A LETTER

"Monday Morning"

My Dear,

"We've come a long way together;"
"Thanks for the Memory" for "Day after Days" I get "That Old Feeling" of "School Days."

"I Believe in Miracles" for now I'm a graduating senior, but I see "Blue Skies" ahead.
"So Help Me" for "I'm a Jitterbug" but I used to be "Teacher's Pet" but "You Never Know"
I might be a success yet.

Remember when I used to date "Tom, Tom,
the Piper's Son?" Now I have a "Bashful
Lover" but "I Wish I Had You!" But "Let It Rain, Let It Pour," "My Heart Belongs to Daddy" for "Love Is Where You Find It."

Well, "Be a Good Scout" "My Cowboy
from Brooklyn." For "I'm Yours."

Dearest Mitzi,

Here I am up in the attic surrounded by old trunks. I came up here to find a costume for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reed's little boy for Costume Day at S.H.S. Evelyn can't find the overalls and big straw hat that she wore on Costume Day back in '39. Remember that Chain Gang? Well, now they own a chain of beauty salons over the country. Surely, you also remember how stunning Aileen Jewell looked in her Japanese pajamas. She came home last month from missionary work in Japan and dropped over to see me.

What are you doing in Berlin? You wrote that Jeanne Brock had the lead in "Faust" this season and that Mary Bell has put her French and art to work in her hat designing career in Paris.

Do you remember Don Forrey? Well, he's one of the new science instructors in Salina High School. You know that they have a new building at last don't you? Jack Waring was the architect, Herbert Nash the contractor, Royal Anderson, the plasterer, and Don Mowe contributed an excellent portrait of the old Washington building for the auditorium. Postmaster David Robb, Mayor Tyson Beazley, Governor Jack Horner, and Senators Donald Johnson and Jack Hensley were all here for the dedication.

You should see the splendid daily paper that Dorothy Schrader is editing with Carl Meyer as assistant editor. O, yes, Ralph Smith is one of the announcers over KSAL. Every Saturday evening at six J. Rex Watkin's orchestra under the sponsorship of the Price Grocery Stores plays the Hit Parade, while Frances Jensen and Phil Gard sing the vocal arrangements. Helen Jane Evans is the "Story Lady" who is on from four to four-thirty every afternoon. Mary Cheney has made a grand success in Hollywood with Jerry McNamara as her manager. Producer Melvin Jarvis found that Leah Mae Green has the new type of glamour that the public is craving.

You might run into Margaret Mary Reed, Mary Jean Miller, and Naneen Hiller somewhere in Paris as they are visiting there and on the Riveria again this year. Royana Bailey was with them for a while, but she returned

NOON AT SCHOOL

Noon at school—ah! that's the spice of life. Everyone appears and then disappears.

Yes, they all come and go. Your latest "pash" flashes by and then your latest "peeve" flutters along. What do YOU like to do best? Let me see Several people (a surprisingly large number) go to the study hall and study their afternoon lessons. Others loiter in the halls and sit on the steps, studying and playing. A few couples stroll around the building looking sheepish-eyed and very much in love.

With all the cars there are across the street, they all seem to be packed—just flowing over, with both boys and girls. Some cars attract more than others though. They all sit over there and "bull" and "coke." Great Sport!

Congratulations and Good Luck to the Class of 1939

I've heard they even study over there. Quite a studious bunch we have in school this year don't you think?

Nice days bring forth cameras and all the little kiddies stand around posing for their pictures, but the fellas manage to get a lot of awfully candid shots when the victims are most unaware.

The Student Council and Hi-Y members run around selling stickers and pencils. They seem to be doing quite a thriving business too. That's the spirit, fellas, stay right in there and work.

The bell rings and there is a mad dash for books and classes. A few late dashers run to the office to get excuses and interrupt the now quiet (?) classes upon entering.

This pictures one of more typical days at school and we all know that we wouldn't change them for the world.
